Munich, Germany, July 5, 2017 – On July 1, 2017, Clemens Berger became Chairman of the Management Board of the substrate and foil manufacturer Louisenthal, a wholly-owned subsidiary of G+D Currency Technology. In addition, he continues to be responsible for the Sales and Marketing department of the Banknote Solutions division of G+D Currency Technology. Berger took over the chairmanship of Louisenthal from Dr. Wolfram Seidemann, who has been CEO of the G+D Currency Technology business sector since November 1, 2016.

“Clemens Berger enjoys a high level of approval in the market and among our customers. He knows the substrates and security features sector well, and has many years of management experience behind him,” commented Dr. Wolfram Seidemann, CEO of G+D Currency Technology. “In Clemens Berger, we have appointed a successor from our own ranks. With his high level of expertise, he not only represents progress in his own department, but also continuity.

Clemens Berger has been working at Louisenthal since 2001, and held several management positions there before taking on overall management of Sales and Marketing for substrates and security features in 2010. His degree is in materials science, from Helsinki University of Technology.
